BRETTFORD'S PLUS™ COLLECTION FUSES FORM & FUNCTION TO CREATE DISTINCTIVE LINE OF SOFT SEATING AND TABLES

CHICAGO — Public spaces of all sorts from workspace break out areas to museums are greatly enhanced since Chicago-based contract furniture manufacturer Bretford introduced its exclusively licensed Plus Collection of soft seating and tables in 2003. The multifunctional, yet distinctive furniture range is the result of a design collaboration of Bang Design and Formway Design to complement the Liquid Workspace™, a flexible and highly-functional office system that breaks free from the confining cubicle system.

The soft seating line combines the beauty of seamless curves with the support and performance of premium foam and tailored upholstery. Sofas, chairs, benches, and tables give designers a complete palette of utility to work with. Six grades of fabric and two grades of leather offer a wide range of colors and textures to accommodate a variety of tastes and uses.

Plus lends a modern, comfortable design aesthetic to open space public areas such as libraries, reception/lobby areas, lounges, and retail environments or private areas such as executive offices. Plus chairs, with arms and without, and short benches with sculpted seats create conversation areas in museums, hospitality areas, and board rooms. Long benches seat three comfortably. Armed and armless sofas are available in two-, two and a half-, and three-seat capacity.

Beautifully curved lounge tables complement the Plus collection. Plus tables are available in two sizes, long and short, and in three finishes: Clear Glass, Frosted Glass, or Wood Tops.
